3. What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that websites may store on your device when you visit them. Similar technologies can also store information on, or access information from, your device.

Cookies may help a website remember your preferences, operate securely, understand website performance or support features provided by third parties.

Some cookies last only while you browse the website (session cookies), while others remain on your device for a set period or until you delete them (persistent cookies).

Cookies may be set by us or by third-party providers whose services appear on or support our website.

4. What types of cookies may be used?

Depending on the features enabled on our website and the choices you make through our cookie consent tool, the following categories may be used.

Strictly necessary cookies

These cookies are needed for essential website functions, such as security, network management and the operation of the Wix website platform.

Where a cookie is strictly necessary to provide a service you have requested, it may be used without consent where permitted by law. We will provide information about these cookies even where consent is not required.

Analytics and performance cookies

If analytics tools, such as Google Analytics or Wix Analytics, are enabled, these technologies may help us understand how visitors find and use our website, which pages are visited and whether the website is working effectively.

We use analytics information to assess and improve our website. Non-essential analytics cookies or similar technologies will only be used where the required consent has been obtained.

Functional cookies and third-party content

Some website features may rely on cookies or similar technologies to provide functionality or display content from other providers.

For example, our website uses Google Maps. When third-party content is loaded, the provider may receive information such as your IP address, browser information and details about the request. Depending on the integration, the provider may also use cookies or similar technologies.

Where required, we will seek your consent before loading non-essential third-party content or allowing associated technologies to operate.

Our website uses Google Maps to display location information and help visitors find us. Google Maps is a third-party service provided by Google.

When a Google Map loads, Google may receive information such as your IP address, browser and device information, and details of your request. Depending on how the map is embedded and configured, Google may also store or access cookies or similar technologies on your device. Google may process this information in accordance with its own privacy policy.

Where Google Maps uses cookies or similar technologies that require consent under applicable law, we will ensure that the required consent is obtained before those technologies are activated. We will configure our website's cookie consent settings to prevent the map from loading until the visitor has made the relevant choice, where necessary and technically supported.

If you choose not to allow the relevant technologies, the map may not display. We will aim to provide our location details separately so that you can still find us.

For further information, please see Google's Privacy Policy:

YouTube links and video thumbnails

Our website may display a clickable thumbnail or link to a video hosted on YouTube, a service provided by Google. The video does not play or load as an embedded YouTube player when you first visit our website. You must choose to click the thumbnail or link to open the video on YouTube.

When you click the link and visit YouTube, Google may collect information such as your IP address, browser and device information, and information about your interaction with the video. YouTube may also use cookies or similar technologies in accordance with its own privacy and cookie policies.

Any cookies or similar technologies used by YouTube after you choose to visit the service are subject to YouTube's own settings and applicable consent requirements.

For further information, please see Google's Privacy Policy:

<https://policies.google.com/privacy?hl=en-GB>

Marketing and advertising cookies

Marketing cookies or similar technologies can be used to measure advertising effectiveness or track activity across websites.

We do not intend to use marketing cookies unless the relevant marketing or tracking tools are enabled. If we introduce them, we will update this policy and obtain consent where required.

5. Which cookies does our website use?

Our website is built using Wix and uses Google Maps. Wix Analytics and Google Analytics services, are active on our website subject to current live connection. YouTube content is not directly embedded within our website, therefore no cookies are used until/unless the user opts to visit YouTube's own website by clicking on the thumbnail.

6. Cookie consent and your choices

We use a cookie consent tool available through Wix to help visitors manage their cookie preferences.

Where required by law, non-essential cookies and similar technologies will not be activated until you have given valid consent. You are able to accept or reject non-essential cookies and manage your preferences by category.

You can change or withdraw your consent at any time using the cookie settings or privacy controls made available on our website. Withdrawing consent does not affect processing that took place before consent was withdrawn.

Some essential website functions may not work correctly if certain technologies are disabled.

Our consent settings will be configured to reflect the technologies actually used on the website.

7. Third-party providers

Our website is hosted using Wix and includes Google Maps. Microsoft Outlook is used to receive and respond to website enquiries.

These providers have their own privacy and data-protection terms. When third-party content or services are loaded on our website, the relevant provider may receive information about your device or visit.

Using Outlook to respond to an enquiry does not, by itself, mean that Outlook places cookies on every visitor's device. The technologies involved depend on how the service is accessed and integrated.

For more information, please refer to the providers' published information:

- Wix: <https://www.wix.com/about/privacy>

- Google: <https://policies.google.com/privacy?hl=en-GB>

8. Managing cookies through your browser

Most web browsers allow you to view, block or delete cookies through their settings. You can usually find these controls in the browser's privacy or security settings.

You can find guidance for common browsers here:

- Google Chrome: <https://support.google.com/chrome/answer/95647>
- Microsoft Edge: <https://support.microsoft.com/microsoft-edge>
- Mozilla Firefox: <https://support.mozilla.org>

Blocking all cookies may affect how some websites function. Browser controls may also not provide the same level of choice as our website's cookie consent tool.

9. Personal information and cookies

Some cookies and similar technologies may collect or be associated with personal information, such as an IP address, device information or browsing activity.

Where personal information is collected, we will handle it in accordance with applicable data protection law and our Privacy Policy.

We will not use non-essential cookies or similar technologies requiring consent before obtaining the necessary consent.

10. Changes to this policy

We may update this Cookies Policy when our website, its features, the technologies we use or the applicable legal requirements change.

The latest version will be published on this page, with the updated date shown at the top.
